LUXE PACK Los Angeles 2026 Reveals New Bold Ambition and Vision for 2026

March 4–5, 2026 | Los Angeles Convention Center

New Energy. New Vision. Three New Pillars.

LUXE PACK Los Angeles, the West Coast's premier event for creative, sustainable, and premium packaging innovation, is transforming its 2026 edition. The reimagined 2026 show floor will unlock new possibilities for brand packaging success. No matter what the industry or niche, this next edition invites attendees to explore emerging trends shaping the creative packaging ecosystem, guided by an impressive lineup of over 80 primary and secondary packaging suppliers and manufacturing experts. See Annex 1.

Registration for the 2026 event opened in early November, giving brands a head start on planning their sourcing strategies before year-end. Attendees are invited to bring their active packaging projects directly to the show floor, where months of development can be accelerated into a focused, two-day creative sprint. Throughout the curated exhibition, industry-leading suppliers and manufacturers will collaborate with brand teams to refine concepts, explore materials, and elevate ideas from early-stage vision to polished, shelf-ready execution.

Attendees are invited to bring their active packaging projects directly to the show floor, where months of development can be accelerated into a focused, two-day creative sprint. Throughout the curated exhibition, industry-leading suppliers and manufacturers will collaborate with brand teams to refine concepts, explore materials, and elevate ideas from early-stage vision to polished, shelf-ready execution.

New for 2026: Three Defining Pillars

LUXE PACK Los Angeles 2026 will shape its 8th West Coast edition around three strategic pillars, each built to inspire and empower packaging decision-makers across industries:

Accessible Sustainability

Because sustainability shouldn't be out of reach. LUXE PACK will present practical, creative packaging solutions that make it possible for every brand to take meaningful steps toward a greener future.

Next Gen Design

Spotlighting the designers and brands pushing packaging forward through bold aesthetics, innovative materials, and next-wave creativity.

An Industry Collective

More than networking, it's about belonging. LUXE PACK will offer a collaborative space where open, creative minds connect, partnerships form, and big ideas materialize. New “events within the event” are already being developed to foster this community spirit.

All show events, activations, and conference sessions aligned with these three pillars will be announced over the next couple of months, giving attendees a rolling preview of everything the 2026 edition has in store.

A Powerful Collaboration

LUXE PACK Los Angeles and MakeUp in™ Los Angeles will once again unite to deliver a unique B2B experience where expert-led beauty product innovation converges with premium, cross-category packaging excellence. Designed to offer brands the optimal event for bringing their concepts to life, this dual event connects every link in the value chain, from contract manufacturers (OEM/ODM) to primary and secondary packaging producers, ingredient suppliers, accessory makers, and trend agencies, each showcasing their latest innovations, tailored solutions, and visionary concepts.

Driven by a shared spirit of creativity and collaboration, these two leading events form a vibrant ecosystem of over 200+ exhibitors that fuel synergy, accelerate market opportunities, and inspire responsible innovation. Whether you’re a rising indie brand or a global leader,

“LUXE PACK Los Angeles isn’t just an exhibition, it’s an industry partner,” said the show’s organizers. “With the 2026 pillars of Accessible Sustainability, Next Gen Design, and an Industry Collective, this edition is being shaped to spark meaningful conversations and collaborations that push packaging creativity forward.”
