Design

The HOCKEY shelving system is a room divider for modern, open-plan workspaces and impresses with its combination of design, functionality and sustainability.

The sculptural, warm appearance of the wooden construction, alongside its multifunctional application possibilities and sustainable design, is the core idea behind the design by the Kinzo architectural firm.

A central trunk replaces the classic grid construction.

Reduce, Reuse & Recycle

Material

Frame construction

- industrial glued laminated timber
- made from local spruce wood, PEFC certified
- renewable raw material
- low carbon footprint
- maximum optimisation of cuts
- minimum waste products
- dimensionally stable and durable
- recyclable

Built-in elements

- coated chipboard made from recycled wood, glued with a biogenic raw material
- certified with the Blue Angel label
- recyclable

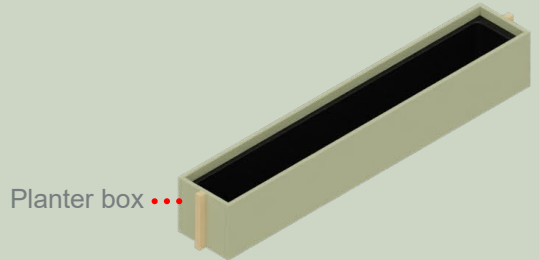

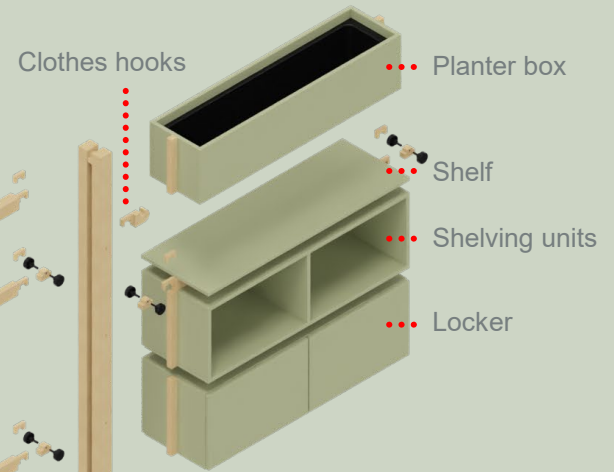

System

- modular
- can be dismantled into all individual components
- easy to assemble and disassemble
- can be reconfigured and expanded
- defective parts can be replaced

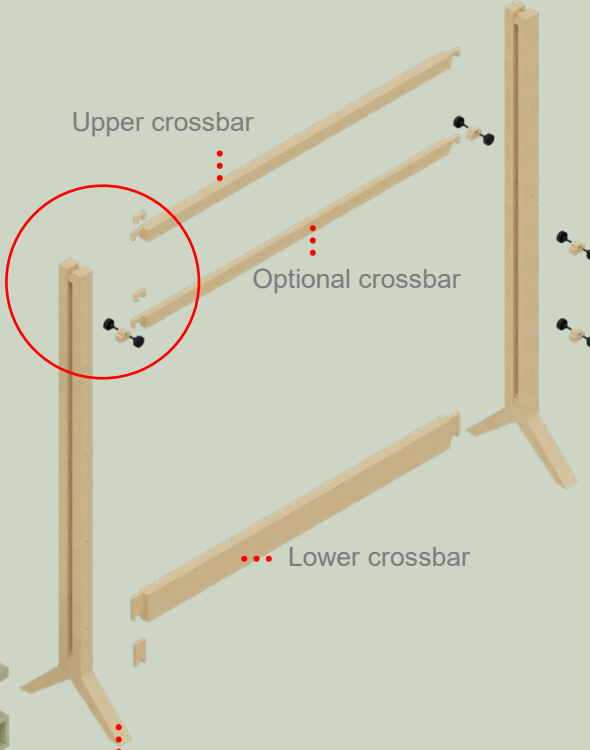

Modular

The cross bars can be easily and quickly clamped to the curved wooden supports without tools and fixed with the knurled screws. This allows for endless combination possibilities to be configured.

Examples

Whether open seating elements, locker walls or statement pieces in reception areas or visual and acoustic screens - HOCKEY adapts to the individual needs of modern workspaces.

Collaboration

HOCKEY structures collaborative areas within the open space and combines media integration, storage, and acoustics into one architectural element.

Screen mounts, whiteboards, pinable panels, and integrated greenery create a multifunctional hub for communication and collaboration.

The sculptural timber construction gives the media wall a warm and distinctive presence within the space.

Reception

HOCKEY reinterprets the reception area as a combination of wardrobe, seating, and storage.

Open shelving, integrated storage, and warm materials create an inviting atmosphere with a high level of functionality.

The modular system enables individual solutions for modern reception and waiting areas.

Meeting x Work Café

HOCKEY creates communicative meeting points for spontaneous conversations, short meetings, and breaks throughout the workday.

The combination of standing meetings, café niches, and spatial structuring opens up new possibilities for modern communication and lounge areas.

The warm materiality of the timber construction creates an inviting and open atmosphere.

Acoustics x Greenery

HOCKEY creates structured workspaces with integrated acoustics and greenery.

Pinable panels, natural materials, and the characteristic timber construction create a calm and warm spatial atmosphere within the open space.

The combination of functionality and sculptural design turns HOCKEY into an architectural element for modern working environments.

Lockers x Greenery

HOCKEY combines privacy screening, personal storage, and integrated greenery into an architectural element within the open space.

Integrated lockers structure the space and support flexible workflows.

The combination of Blue Shadow and black-stained glulam spruce gives the system a distinctive presence — particularly within revitalized industrial architectures.
